

Sharing in the Dream and Glory of God

What is familiar is also often taken for granted. We take for granted our ability to see with our eyes till blindness sets in or the ability to walk until we have twisted our ankle. Similarly, when we are so used to the exhortation to proclaim the Good News to others, that we forget to be the Good News. The Good News is God's dream and glory given to us in the very person of Jesus himself – God incarnate to be human with us. He is here with us – walking, eating and suffering with us!

“Let us go and glorify God by our lives.” Indeed, we are familiar with this missioning prayer at the end of mass. We have heard this exhortation, but have not really internalized this for ourselves.

How do we praise and glorify God in our lives? To praise is to share in God's glory. If there is any one person other than our Lord Jesus, who has gloried God, it is certainly Mary — the Mother of Our Lord Jesus. She was chosen by God in a message made known through the angel Gabriel. She responded by proclaiming the prayer of the Magnificat: “My soul glorifies the Lord, my spirit rejoices in God my Saviour”. How can we indeed glorify God in our lives? Maybe this feast day is a good time to join St Ignatius in glorifying God in everything that we do. To give thanks for the many blessings that we have received as a community, for the social outreach to the poor and forgotten like the Rohingya refugees who are the focus of our Fiesta celebration, for the many good works that many of our parishioners do quietly and incognito everywhere. They are the ones who bring the light of Christ to warm many hearts.

What does the “Glory of God” mean for us? Should a football team win the world cup, there will be a victory parade in the city as with the French team. Everyone loves a winner and wants to have a share in the “glory” of that moment. But for us it means more than that. Glory comes from the word “Shekinah” – meaning the revelation of God's presence and dwelling among men, among his people. This is an unimaginable idea that Divinity has come to be with mere human beings. Indeed, the humility of God our Creator to be with us his creatures is real and awe-inspiring. It is a bit like a King who chooses to come out of his palace to meet the common people in the market place. Or it is like meeting Pope Francis on the MRT or bus heading down town when you go to work! You will be thrilled, I am sure of that.

So here we are: we are called to manifest that experience of the divine encounter of God's presence (glory) in our lives so that we may share God's presence and glory with others. It is perhaps best captured in the words of St Irenaeus, “The Glory of God is a person fully alive”. Hence, to be fully

REFLECTION

Proud of Our Patron

✝ Do you love and know your patron saint? I have always been proud of having a soldier saint and fighter. This saint has inspired in men the will of generosity, humility and poverty. The “all that I have” virtue in life.

Today I celebrate my becoming a Jesuit – a vocation to the priesthood plus a life for God. “Only thy grace and love on me bestow. Possessing these riches I forgo.” An inspiration to live for the glory of God, not from the glory of self.

Ignatius was a man for others and was happy to serve. His teachings are to choose a way of life making Christ relevant, and accepting ourselves just as we are. We need nothing outside of ourselves, but to love one another in Christ.

On this Feast Day of St Ignatius of Loyola, I offer you my heartfelt gratitude for your welcome and your kindness.

FR GERRY KEANE, SJ

alive, is to share in God's presence, God's work, God's goodness, God's holiness and God's glory in our lives.

On this Feast Day of St Ignatius, let us be fully alive to the presence of God in and around us. Let us praise God for the wonders of his love and kindness. To praise God is no more than to be like a bird that sings in the morning, hoping to see the light before dawn breaks. When we praise God and serve God with joy, we glorify God and share in his dream. May you continue to dream God's dream in your life. Wishing all of you a very Happy Feast Day of St Ignatius!
